THE STEREOPTICON "A NUISANCE."

OF ADVERTISEMENTS ON THE MADISON

Mr. Gottschalk, manager of the Madison Square Garden, last night served a summons on F. I. Rog-ers, who runs a stereopticon on the roof of a builders, who runs a stereopticon on the roof of a building at Fifth-ave, and Twenty-lifth-st, ordering him to appear in Jefferson Market Court to-day.

Mr. Gottschalk secured the summons from Justice Ryan yesterday. He complains that for some time Rogers has made a practice of "throwing advertisements" from his stereopticon on the towers of Madison Square Garden, Several times he has thrown the flashes on the towers while the performance on the roof garden was going on, attracting the attention of the visitors and also throwing the flashes on people who occupied private boxes and interrupting the show. Mr. Gottschalk asked him to desist and he promised to so, but Wednesday night he began again. Then Mr. Gottschalk decided to try the courts. He alleges that the stereopticon is a nulsance and that Rogers has no right to use the towers for his advertisements.

ROBERT L. DARRAGH'S BODY CREMATED. In conformity with his wishes, as expressed in terday taken to Fresh Pond, L. I., and cremated. The funeral services were first held at the Westminster Presbyterian Church, in West Twenty-third-st., the Rev. Dr. R. F. Sample conducting them. A considerable number of the dead builder's friends gainered to pay their last respects. The widow, and a son and five daughters, children of Mr. Darragh, by a former wife, were the chief mourners. His brother John Darragh and Mr. Whitely, a son-in-law, were also present. The pall-bearers were six of the dead man's friends: A. A. Andrews, A. G. Bogert, John Bogert, Mr. Haistead, Edwin Dobba and Lawrence Curnan. Most of those present followed the ceffin to the crematory.

PACE TO FACE WITH THE INCOME TAX

AT A FATEFUL STAGE.

From The New-York Sun (Dem.). The Democratic Senate is now almost face to face with the income tax sections of the Tariff bill. The Senate has reached the most important and fateful stage of its long deliberations.

IS IT COWARDICE OR PRESSURE? From The Boston Journal.

It is edifying to observe that the Eastern Demo-cratic papers, which denounced the income tax as hercely when the House added it to the Tariff bill. are now silent regarding it, although its imposition is almost certain. Have they lost their courage, or have they been authoritatively silenced?

AN ALARMING SYMPTOM.

From The Brooklyn Eagle (Dem.). The spectacle of men voting for a measure which they concede to be wrong and know to be contrary to the principles of their party is a lamentable evidence of the breaking down of government at its legislative point.

WILL THESE DEMOCRATS DO THEIR DUTY? From The Newark Advertiser.

The fight on the income tax begins to-day. The proposition can be defeated if those Democratic Senators who have denounced the income tax as unfair, unjust and unnecessary, will do their duty. LOOKS LIKE PART OF THE COMPROMISE.

From The Cleveland Plain Dealer (Dem.).
It looks as though the income tax would be left as a feature of the revenue bill. Sometimes we are inclined to think that this was a part of the compromise. We regret it very much, for an income tax was not a part of the Democratic platform. It has never been a Democratic measure.

TO INQUIRE INTO ITS OWN SANITY. From The Evening Telegram.

The United States Senate, having reached the income tax in the Tariff bill, may be said to be resolved into a commission of inquiry concerning its own sanity.

A SALVATION ARMY "HALLELUJAH" WEDDING.

Salvation Army. It had been announced that th would be a "grand ballelujah wedding," and ther was no mistake in the fulfilment of the promise "Hallelijah" began the coremony and was inter-mittently kept up to the close. In front of the plat-form, which was decorated with patted plants and jars of flowers, two steps had been placed which were almost concealed by a covering of dais ies, and each corner was graced by a vasof flowers. Seated upon the platform were Mrs. Maud Ballington Booth, and efficers of the Salvation Army.
At the entrance of the bridal party the mon of the Army and the friends and spectators, who filled the hall almost to sufficiation, did not subside into a respectful silence, as might have been expected by the uninitiated, but with one shoultaneous outbreak greeted the party with dearening sounds. Shouts, stamping of feet, drams, tambourines, and hands all joined in the chorus, and, with this characteristic accompaniment, the bride, attended by a maid of hotor and ten bridesmable. mounted the platform. The steps leading to it were evidently a trifle unusual, and, although the majorithem in the way that would be expected, one of two of the number slightly hegitated, and the without more alo, jumped upon the platform. The bride, a sweet-faced young girl, with dark waving hair, carelessly drawf back from her foreheal, was dressed in the customary Army garb, but brightened by a sash of white mail pressed over the right shoulder, and tied with white ribton just helow the waist at the left side. A cluster of white roses were fastened at the belt. The maid of honor was dressed in the same manner, with the exception of wearing the usual poke bonnet. The bridesmaids were dressed with the evident intention of representing priestesses, but in place of more pretentious garments, white gotton frocks and similar headgear were worn. Each bridesmaid carried a tambourine, the symbol of the Army.

Just before the ceremony the canopy took fire, but the finnes were quickly extinguished, and the escape from what might have been a scrious disaster gave the opportunity for more "halleluighs." The simple ceremony was performed by Mrs. Booth, who wore the army garb and a shoulder sash of the Stars and Stripes. As the last words were uttered pandemonium was let loose, and congratulations were showered upon the happy couple with the accompaniment of plane, band, voice and tambourine.

THE COLOR OF THE RUBY.

From The Jewellers' Circular.

From The Jewellers Circular.

The color of the ruby is another of its mysteries, and one which Professor Judd was only able to touch upon slightly in his lecture. The color is distributed most irregularly, and some corundum crystals show in patches the tints of the ruby, the sapphire and the emerald all mixed up together. These colors are, of course, due to the special way in which the structure of the crystal deals with the light passing through it, the ruby absorbing all the rays except those which emerge to give it its characteristic color. How greatly these colors depend on molecular and chemical changes going on in the crystal is obvious from the strange way some gems behave under light and heat. Professor Maskelyne mentions a diamond which, when taken out of the warm pocket and allowed to cool on the fable, turned a beautiful red. Professor Judd startled his andience by decaring that the green glass paness used in the conservatories at Kew gradually changed through various shades of yellow to a distinct purplish hue under the prolonged action of light.

Rubles change their color in a curious way under the action of heat. Bluish rubles turn perfectly green, and on cooling regain their original tint. The blue sapphire turns white, and the yellow co-rundum crystal becomes green. Then there is the strange property of "pleo-chroism" in the ruby family and its kindred; they exhibit different tints according to the side of the crystal you are examining. Some amorphous powdered oxide of aluminium was piaced in a vacuum tube and subjected to the electrical discharge from a high-tension coil. It was shown that the white powder glowed with the brilliant red of the ruby, and that the glow continued after the discharge ceased—a fact which seems in curious confirmation of the ancient idea that rubles would glow for a time in the dark. The same experiment was repeated with a variety of corundum stones, artificial rubles, etc., to show the greater or less degree of ruby glow exhibited by each.

GRADUATES OF STEVENS INSTITUTE.

LOSING EXERCISES HELD IN THE HOROKES THEATRE-MANY PROPLE PRESENT.

The Hoboken Theatre was crowded last night with friends of the students of Stevens Institute of Technology who had gathered to witness the exercises connected with the twenty-second comexercises confected with the twenty-second commencement of the institute. The faculty and the graduating class occupied scats upon the stage. The programme was unusually elaborate. Archdeacon William R. Jenvey, rector of St. Paul's P. E. Church, at Hudson and Eighth sts., in that city, pronounced both the opening prayer and the benediction. Professor Henry Morton, president of the institute, made a brief introductory address in which he compilmented the class upon the high grade it had attained, and spoke feelingly of his regret at the fact that they were about to sever their connection with their alma mater. The salutatory address was delivered by Joseph G. H. Cotter, after which came an address to the graduating class by J. Hector Fezandi.

Then came the announcement of prizes and the conferring of degrees. Offer Ellsworth delivered the valedictory address. The class-day exercises included singing by the college rice club, remarks by the president, an essay on "History" by Henry D. Lawton, an invocation by C. C. Hartpence, and a dissertation on "Prophecy" by A. M. Lozter, and the class presentation by C. W. McCord, ir. There was also muste by the banto club. The Commencement Committee consisted of George B. IT MAY BE GENERAL KERWIN. BELLEF THAT HE WILL BE APPOINTED pointment by Mayor Glroy of General Michael Kerwin, the well-known Republican leader of the XXVIIIth Assembly District, to be police justice in place of Solon B. Smith, whose term expired host Collector of Internal Revenue for the Hd Federal District for the last four or live years, but will van, on July I.

There is some opposition to the General among Irishmen who allege that his sympathics are with the Clan-na-Gael, and some of them have been to the Mayor to protest against the appointment. When the Mayor was asked about this yesterlay, he said: "It is true that a delegation came to see me and made a lot of reliculous charges against General Kerwin, but they were unsupported, and I told them that they would have ne weigh, with me, as I never consider verbal charges of that description."

The Mayor added that this statement must not be taken to mean that he had decided on General Kerwin's appointment. There were no candidates for the place in that sense of the term, although the Mayor said that he was considering several names. The appointment would not be made, however, for some time.

The impression is that a Regulblean will be.

The appointment women for some time some time some time. The impression is that a Republican will be chosen to successed Justice Smith, and it is believed that General Kerwin's chances are good. General Kerwin is chairman of the executive and imance committees of the Republican Organization of the City and County of New-York. He has one of the strongest and most effective district organizations in New-York.

LOYAL MEN OF THE XUTH DISTRICT, The Anti-Machine Republicans of the XIIth Assembly District had a most successful and enthusiastic meeting on Wednesday evening at Rose Hill Hall, Second-ave., between Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth sts. Thomas St. John Gaffney pre-sided, and when he opened the meeting fully 29 loyal hard-working men were present. The chair-man made an excellent speech, in which he said man made an excellent speech, in which he said that the XIIth had already a good organization, but it was the duty of every one to keep his neck well in the collar throughout the summer, so that victory would be surely secured in the fall. The first vice-president, Joseph Wilkinson, as usual, held the audience interested while he spoke, and particularly pointed out the great aid which the State Club would be and already was to the Republican party. Already men from up the State were making it their headquarters and, as he said, doubtless when more was known about it, thousands of men from up the State and in the city would be cager to John It. Speeches were also made by Dr. Hamilton Williams, T. J. Sandford, Samuel Koenig, M. J. Joyce, J. Hoylan and others. Resolutions were unanimously passed favoring a straight Republican ticket and denouncing Tammany's blackmailing schemes.

Officers met last evening at No. 333 West Twentythird-st., General Charles H. T. Collis, chairman, presiding, and issued a circular letter to the chairmen of the various election district organizations requesting that the names of proper persons to serve as inspectors of election, poil clerks, ballot cierks and challengers, be sent to Secretary William H. Ten Eyck, No. 172 Alexander-ave., New York City, on or before July 9. Under the law passed by the last Legislature the Republicans are entitled to two inspectors, one poil cierk and one ballot cierk in each election district. Under this act, if the right kind of men cannot be had within the election district, they may be taken from other districts. This measure is to prevent election officers being appointed as Republicans who are in reality tools of Tammany Hall. The circular is signed by General Collis, S. J. Campbell, John Simpson, F. S. Gibbs, Abraham Gruber, Benno Loewy, Columbus O. Johnson, A. G. McCook, E. H. Healey, George B. Deane, Charles Schweck, E. J. Palmer and A. R. Page.

THE PINNACLE OF VIRTUE.

THEREFROM.

From The London Times, March 26,
Admiral Walker, of the United States Navy, is about to sail for Honchilu-to establish a naval statlen. The last words of this piece of intelligence seen to mark a precipitate descent from the pinnacle of virtue upon which President Cleveland took his stand a short time ago. If Admiral Walker had instructions to put down by force of arms the Provisional Government, which has set the power of the Inited States at defiance, there would be no cause for surprise. Such a course of action, indeed, would have seemed the logical consequence of Mr. Cleveland's solena declarations regarding the deposition of Queen Liliuokalain. But so far from poing to Hasail to vindicate the flouted majesty of the United States, Admiral Walker is going to acquire a naval station there. In the same telegram which announces his impending visit it is stated that this step is regarded as virtually establishing an American protectorate over Hawaii. It is easy to understand the advantages which will accrue to the United States Navy, the development of which is now the object of so much care and expenditure, from the possession of a naval station so advantageously placed. The civilized world too, has every reason to be contented that the United States should "protect" these beautiful islands, even althour hand protection seems to have no other immediate meaning than the confirmation of the Provisional Government.

What does seem a little perplexing is the contrast between this concession to sordid expediency and the lofty resolutions expressed hardly three months axis by the head of the United States Executive. Previsional Government had been established by a misuse of the name and power of the United States, and "that the United States could not fail to vindleate its honer and its sense of justice by an earnest effort to make all possible reparation." He condemned in unstituted language the conduct of Mr. Stevens, the American Minister at Honoliniu at the time of the revolution. He pointed on the United States
